

Both major parties eye the Michigan recount anxiously. The 18,000 invalid ballots they expect to find are causing quakes the length of the state. Kelly asks for a "fair, gentlemanly and proper recount". Williams displays confidence. Other party leaders don't.

Says the Michigan highway department: "Eighty percent of the accidents are caused due to the human element, and how can the state or its agencies control that?" In the hospital at the time suffering from auto crash injuries were Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler and Elmer Hanna, an administrative aide.

College presidents look grim over future enrollments. Head of one of the state's largest says next year he expects no draft eligible students... a return to all-co-ed-campus or virtually so.

Some inactive reservists are being called ahead of the active. In a wire to Governor Williams, Frank Pace, secretary of the army explains it as an attempt to keep active units intact for possible future use.

In Washington plans are underfoot to extend Michigan's national guard summer training to three weeks. Local commanders fear fewer turnouts for camp, since many might not be able to leave civilian jobs that long.

But the dogs are safe. There are no plans to draft any more for the K-9 corps. Down, fido!

Fort Custer has been turned down for the proposed air academy. But air force officials surprised the governor and the entire state by putting two other Michigan locations among the final 25 sites from which the selection will be made. Named were: Waterloo recreation area near Chelsea, and Kensington recreation area, near Brighton.

Tourist promoters are rampaging for more state money to advertise Michigan's vacation business. The state is third in vacation visitors, 13th in amount of appropriation. They are asking $229,000 last year, they received $25,000.

The state department of health has made what is considered a smart move by applying for a patent on a new antibiotic--a development on the order of penicillin and streptomycin. "Public money financed the research," says Dr. Albert Heustis, commissioner, "why shouldn't financial benefits come back to the people of Michigan?"

The health department may lose 50 employees if $153,000 in federal funds is not supplemented by additional appropriations. The slash results from a federal policy of cutting non-defense expenditures.

Guilty Plea Brings 90 Days

A plea of guilty to furnishing alcoholic liquor to minors brought a 90 day jail sentence to Joseph Watts of Grayling before Justice Van Smith Saturday afternoon. He was also assessed court costs and fine of $8.55.

The appearance of Watts in court came about from his furnishing liquor to two minor Grayling girls who have since been declared delinquent in Probate Court and placed on one year's probation. Two Gaylord youths who were also in the affair will probably face charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in Gaylord, it was said. The furnishing of the liquor took place in Grayling so the prosecution was here, Prosecutor Robert F. Neafie said. Any action against the two Gaylord boys will have to take place in Otsego County where the alleged offenses took place, he explained.

Lack of Height Hinders Squad

The Grayling High Vikings dropped the season cage opener at Mancelona Tuesday evening when the taller Ironmen squad overtook them in the final quarter to win 37 to 27.

Grayling started off on the right foot worked to a 7 to 4 lead in the first quarter and held for a 17 to 14 halftime advantage. At the end of the third quarter, Mancelona had moved into a 25 to 23 lead and as they stalled during the final period to run out the clock, the Vikings broke up their defense pattern in an attempt to get the ball and the Ironmen were afforded the opportunity to cash in on several easy baskets.

Lack of height hurt the Vikings as did the small Mancelona floor. Grayling was unable to maneuver their fairly short team while the Ironmen's height advantage worked even better in the close quarters. Grayling had little trouble staying ahead of the Ironmen in the first half but as play became a little rougher in the last half and Mancelona began to use their height, the Vikings were out of the game.

Peccew Laurent with 10 points led the Vikings with Duane Worden adding 6. Jim Burch and Hank Feldhauser 5 each and Ellery Horning 1. The Vikings cashed in on 5 out of 17 free throw attempts. LaRowe, Ironman forward led his team to victory with 13 points with Wilcox, Mancy pivotman adding 12. Mancy hit on 7 of 21 free throw tries.

The Viking reserves came through with a 48 to 34 victory in the preliminary over the Mancy second team with Marvin Bielski leading the way with 15 points and Owens adding 13. Coach Bruce Smith used 15 boys in this game as they piled up a lead in the second quarter after trailing 12 to 6 at the end of the first frame. At halftime Grayling led 25 to 17 and gained a 41 to 25 third quarter advantage.

More And More "Capitalists"

Last Christmas, a Midwest manufacturing concern went in for an unusual innovation. Instead of giving its employees their annual presents in cash, it gave them shares of stock in 14 companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange. In selecting the stocks, several criteria were kept in mind—the shares had to be in a certain price range; they had to be in companies whose names or products were widely known, and they had to have had good dividend records during the preceding year.

With each gift of stock, the company sent a letter, pointing out that the employee in question was now one of the owners of the concern in which he held shares, and that he had a definite, personal interest in how that concern fared in the future. In other words, the employee was another "capitalist." The company later reported that comment from its employees on the innovation was uniformly good.

Back of the gifts of stock was one guiding purpose—to give a boost to free enterprise. The Communist line holds that the whole wealth of this country belongs to 50 or 60 enormously rich families. The best way to scotch that lie is to expand the ownership of American industry into as many millions of pairs of hands as possible. It is also a way to scotch the idea that the stock market exists only to serve a small number of gamblers and promoters. In truth, it exists to serve the whole nation—and to provide a year-around market place where a financial interest in the corporations which provide the American people with goods and services may be bought and sold.

A man who owns a direct interest in the American economy is a man who will turn a deaf ear to those who would destroy the economic and governmental systems which made this country great—and which have kept it free.

Deer Kill May Be Slightly Higher

The deer hunter success average may be slightly higher this year in the northern lower peninsula.

Harry Ruhl, conservation department game chief, reports a fairly heavy kill in the south central sections of this region. Most of the animals taken are spikehorns, he adds, indicating the maturity of the fawns got through last winter's light starvation period.

At the Rifle River area checking station, field men counted 38 bucks in the first four days of hunting as against the 1949 season total of 36. But fewer 2½ year old deer were noted in the bag, thus far, as in other parts of the region.

While hunter report cards eventually will tell the state-wide deer season story, field reports received by the conservation department to date suggest a somewhat smaller hunting army and an average to slightly larger kill.

Not just a STORE

Not just a MAN

Community Institution!

It becomes easy, as we get used to things, to accept them for granted. Take your home-town hardwareman for example. Probably he's been serving your community—and serving it well—for a long, long time. Maybe you've grown so used to his store that you take it for granted. But what if it wasn't there and you found it hard to get essential items of hardware and housewares so quickly, so easily and so fairly priced? You will surely agree such a condition would be your loss—the community's loss!

So give a thought to your local hardware retailer—and the thousand-and-one needed things his store offers. Think of the almost countless services he renders. Consider these things and you will understand why it pays to do business with stores displaying the red, white and blue Irha Symbol of Service and Satisfaction.

SHORT STORIES

He-Man's
Code

By Richard Hill Wilkins

ANDY had sensitive eyes and delicate hands but Leonie, born and bred a westerner of pioneer stock, was human. She loved him. It wasn't until after they were married that she discovered he was a physical coward.

She found out the night of Serena Boone's engagement party. Tony Swift was there. As usual he was drunk. He was a handsome devil, this Tony, tall and bronzed and reckless. He had been Leonie's childhood sweetheart. Folks said she would have married him if it weren't for his drinking.

The first thing Tony saw when he came through the door was Leonie and Andy dancing together. A scowl crossed his face. Then he laughed. When they whirled past him he stepped up and whacked Andy on the back.

"Tony's cut," he grinned. "Make way for a man."

Leonie flushed. Andy hesitated, looked at Tony, then gave way smiling. "Sure thing," he said. "Your dance, Tony."

As soon as she could, without appearing too obvious, she asked Andy to take her home.

There she accused:

"Why did you let him insult you? Oh, the shame of it!"

Andy was startled and bewildered. "Let who insult me, honey?"

"Who?" She stared at him. "Tony Swift, of course! I was never so humiliated in my life."

"Tony? Oh, you mean because of what he said? Shucks, honey, Tony didn't mean anything. He was drunk."

The appalling truth flashed across Leonie's brain in that moment. Andy was a coward! He'd been afraid of Tony, which was why he evaded the issue! With a little whimpering cry she turned and ran sobbing from the room.

A week later, on Saturday night, Andy stopped by at Seth Lancel's store to see Seth on a matter of business. A couple of boys from his mine were there, drinking at the bar. Minutes later, talking with Seth, he heard a rumour out front. Investigating he discovered that two boys were engaged in a brawl with three men from the Bar V cattle ranch. Andy stood by and watched a while. Others joined in. It began to look as though the place would be wrecked. Andy got out of there.

Leonie heard about it the next day. That settled things for her.

"If I ever see your ugly face around here again, I'll kill you!"

ANDY was bewildered and unhappy. The next day, he found himself brooding over the situation. By mid-afternoon he could stand it no longer. Leaving Noah Tait in charge of operations, he drove home. As he strode up the walk he heard a cry. He burst open the door and found Tony Swift trying to kiss his wife. Tony wasn't drunk. He was babbling something about Leonie really loving him.

Tony whirled at the sound Andy made. His lip curled. "Oho! The sissy from Bos—"

Andy strode across the floor. His face was black. "I guess," he said bitterly, "you're dumb, after all. You need teaching."

He struck out. Tony tried to dodge, but Andy's fist clipped him on the chin so hard that he went down.

"Damn you!" He lunged, but Andy wasn't where he expected. Andy's fist flashed out again, and again Tony went down. Andy jerked him to his feet and hit him again. He hit him a third time and a fourth. Blood covered Tony's face. Tony whimpered for mercy. Andy dragged him to the door and threw him out.

"Andy!" Leonie fled into his arms. "Oh, my darling, you were wonderful! Oh, precious, forgive me for what I said. Andy, why didn't you do that before—that night at the dance?"

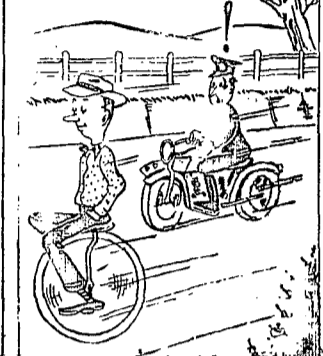

Andy frowned. "Why, shucks, honey. I don't like to fight. Don't you see? He was drunk then. There was no need."

Leonie laid her head on his shoulder. "I see, darling. Of course I see."

But she didn't. Released by WNII Features.

tomarily we do and we see no reason why we won't again this year.

The increased transportation demands of the armed forces and the greater civilian requirements call for early mailing to accelerate movement of the expected record volume of Christmas mail, the association states.

In order to meet the record flood of Christmas mail, the association said, the railroads already are making preparations to press into service extra cars capable of carrying the mail and to use special mail trains later in the more densely populated areas.

The association adds that the railroads, year in and year out, transport nearly 99% of the nation's mail of all kinds and that the movement requires almost 7,000 postal transportation clerks who travel a total of 898 million miles every 12 months.

Sheltered Place Best For Feeding Station

Decide on a sheltered spot, safe from pouncing cats and strong winds, if you want birds to come to your winter feeding station, Dr. George M. Sutton, associate professor of zoology at the University of Michigan, advises.

No special equipment is needed for such a counter, the University professor pointed out. In selecting the spot for placing the food, a partial roof or awning above the window is a good thing, though not absolutely essential, Dr. Sutton said.

People who want to attract birds to the feeding station should take advantage of the snowfalls. Many birds will come to the feeding counter when they must take shelter from storm. Michigan birds have perfectly adequate feather covering and if they have food, they are safe, Dr. Sutton said. But wait for that first heavy snow fall. In just a couple of days, the birds will develop a habit of coming to your feeding station.

Discussing the favorite food items, Dr. Sutton noted that many birds are very fond of sunflower seeds. Bird lovers usually make arrangements with a farmer to save complete sunflower heads for them. These are then strung up for the birds and are a great favorite with downy and hairy woodpeckers, chickadees and tufted titmouse. The cardinal likes this food, too, but for this bird the seed should be placed on the ground, as he dislikes flying up to get it.

Other foods which will attract the birds are cracked nuts, hickory nuts, peanuts and black walnuts, and of course, the lump of suet tacked to the trunk of a tree or placed in a container of hickory bark through which the birds can peck.

One of the prettiest birds you can have as a "guest" during the winter is the evening grosbeak, a black-white-olive green and yellow bird about the size of a robin, Dr. Sutton said. Bobwhites may be seen at winter feeding stations occasionally.

The brown creeper, a small defenseless brown, grey and white bird with slender curved bill, will often slip in when the others have finished and will stay as long as the others will let him. The titmouse and chickadee may get bold enough to eat out of your hand, Dr. Sutton said.

"Nothing to worry about," the doctor tells this patient as he points to her chest picture. Chest X-rays given through tuberculosis Christmas Seal dollars are all checked by TB specialists. Each year, hundreds of Michigan citizens are given all-important health check-ups through TB Christmas Seal funds. Part of the proceeds from the 1950 tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale, underway here now, will help provide chest X-ray service for Michigan people next year.
